The fact that Helas issued seven passes and hit four batamen was too gross a handicap for the Islands batters to overcome. Pearson was especially effective with a high, fast ball on the inside that cassed the downfall on strikes of 10 Islander batamen. Pearson labored three innings to control his fast one; meantime, the Islanders piled up their four-run lead. However, after the third, the Molinar held them hitless and runless, only one (McInerney in the sixth) reaching first; and he on an error by Ray.

Marphy to Showers.

The pastime started with a jolt for the Islanders during their first time at bat when Murphy was ordered from the arounds for discussions.
